Information accurate at time of going to print.

The purpose of this leaflet is to provide information on the general facts about your operation or condition. We hope to explain to you what your procedure entails and what will happen to you during and after your treatment.

The Procedure

This is a form of treatment used to destroy abnormal cell in the cervix

The Treatment

A preliminary vaginal examination is carried out. To prevent any discomfort local anaesthetic is injected with a very fine needle into the cervix. A hot probe is applied to the cervix to destroy the abnormal area. A nurse will be with you throughout the procedure. Some women are very sensitive to even touch the cervix and may have this procedure done under general anaesthesia which will be performed in the Day Care Unit.

After the treatment

Healing of the cervix will now commence. The new skin is very delicate and will bleed readily if disturbed in any way. You may have some vaginal bleeding a watery discharge which may last up to 4 weeks. This should not be heavier than a period or be offensive to smell. If you experience the latter this could be an infection and you should contact your GP who may prescribe antibiotics.

The following advice should promote healing:

- □ □ Avoid sexual intercourse for 4 weeks or until the bleeding stops
Refrain from swimming, horse riding vigorous exercise for 4 weeks Avoid using tampons for 4 weeks, use sanitary pads instead.
- Shower daily rather than a bath as the latter may increase the risk of infection.
- You may experience period-like abdominal pain. We would advise you to take mild painkillers such as Paracetamol
- □ There may be a temporary change to the pattern of your periods You can continue with your daily routine straight away, little wobbly after the treatment. If this is the case, we would advise you to take things easy for the rest of the day.

Please note if you travel abroad you may not be covered by insurance should any complications related to the treatment arise. Please check with your insurance company.

Risks and Complications

This procedure has a 95% success rate, with the majority of women having no further abnormal smears.

If you experience heavy bleeding, please contact the Colposcopy clinic on the numbers given as you may be advised to return to colposcopy for a further review.

Follow up and results

Your GP will be sent a copy of the results with the clinic letter. You will receive a letter informing you of the result and follow up arrangements. This can take up to 6 weeks. We are unable to give your results over the phone.
